Women Evidently Are Best at Winning Contests

I HAVE AN IDEA for a new industry in our area—contest and puzzle participation.

We've been looking without much success into ways we can get more money into our town, and maybe we're overlooking a great possibility.

Money CAN be won in contests, and it CAN be won by local persons, events the past few weeks have shown. However, it looks like contests are in industry for women, judging from the fact that three money winners this year were of that sex.

First Mrs. Bill Brown of Harrisburg won $3,500 in a vitamin contest; then Mrs. Rita Richey Eatherly almost won a big prize but had to settle for a fifth and a $100 prize in a newspaper picture contest.

Then Saturday we had another big prize winner—Mrs. Beth Dalton of Harrisburg.

I went down to Dotty Shop, where she works part time, when Bill Melton took her picture Saturday, and did a bit of interviewing.

She got her first information by telephone about 6:15 p. m. Friday from George Carson, promotion manager of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, which said she had won $3,000 in the paper's crossword puzzle contest.

"Are you joking?" she asked Carson. "No, I'm very serious," he replied.

Two more calls followed and Mrs. Dalton was convinced. It was the first time she had won anything of consequence.

"I won thirteen dollars once," she stated.

The contest has been going on for seven weeks with a puzzle a week and she missed trying just once. There's a thousand dollar prize each week and if nobody wins it, the money is added to the next week. It had grown to $3,000 when Mrs. Dalton won.

She gives a lot of credit to her 13-year-old son, Randy, who persuaded her to enter the contest.

Mrs. Earl Wilson, Sister of Mrs. Dora Reynolds, Dies

Mrs. Mary Ellen Wilson, 80, who was the only surviving sister of Mrs. Dora Reynolds of Harrisburg, died at the Anna State hospital at 4 a. m. Sunday. Mrs. Wilson, widow of the late Earl Wilson, had been a resident of Los Angeles, Calif., until her illness eleven years ago caused her to be brought to the hospital.

Born at East St. Louis in 1877, daughter of Dennis and Katherine Fagan Guinan, she was known to her family and friends as "Mamie." Her husband preceded her in death about five years ago. Mrs. Dora Reynolds was her only living sister from her parents' family of eight children.

She was a member of the Roman Catholic church and had been educated in Catholic schools.

The Rosary will be said at the Gaskins funeral home at 7 p. m. today, where the body will lie in state until the funeral at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Father T. G. Bruns will conduct the funeral at St. Mary's Catholic church and burial will be in the Sunset Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers will be John Lockwood, John Molinarolo, John Noonan, William Zimmer, Michael Reshner and Andrew Salus.

Truck, Auto Collide At Church, South Main

A Brown 'n Serve roll truck operated by Aubrey A. Carson and an auto driven by E. D. Gidcumb of Harrisburg collided over the week-end at South Main and Church, city police reported.

Officer Pat Atkinson was told that the truck, going west on Church, entered Main street on which the Gidcumb auto was travelling, when the driver saw no stop sign at Main. The stop sign previously had been knocked over.

$3,000 SMILES—Mrs. Beacher Dalton, left, smiles happily as she accepts a check in the amount of $3,050, prize money and bonus, for having the only correct entry in the Globe-Democrat crossword puzzle contest for the period ending May 17. The check was presented to Mrs. Dalton Saturday about noon at the Dotty shop in Harrisburg, where she is a part-time employee, by Joe Ernst, center, country circulation manager of the Globe-Democrat. At right is Randy, 13-year-old son of Mrs. Dalton, who had encouraged his mother to submit an entry in the contest. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Harrisburg Teen-Age Youth Admits Burglaries of Eight Homes

A teen-age Harrisburg youth, against whom charges have not yet been filed, has admitted eight Harrisburg burglaries, Chief of Police Ross Lane said today.

Lane said that except for money taken, most of which had been spent, nearly all the stolen articles have been recovered.

Chief Lane today thanked the people of the community who cooperated with police in solving the burglaries.

"Officers are no better than the backing they receive from the public," he stated.

Homes the boy admitted entering, he said, were:

H. M. Mottisinger, 124 West Lincoln; Webb Yarbrough, 104 West Park; Joe Gidcumb, 610 North Webster; Dr. J. J. Klein, 204 North Webster; Ken Hamilton, 100 West College; Mrs. Edw. L. Heister, 206 North Jackson; Garrett B. Crews, 10 East Lincoln; Amos Doom, 605 South Main; and J. L. Pickering, 115 West Walnut.

Method of Operation

Lane said the boy's method of operation was this:

On last Thursday and a week ago Thursday, during the daytime, he would knock on doors of residences. If anybody came to the door, he would ask for "Charles." When they said that nobody of that name lived there he would go on to another house.

When nobody came to the door he would enter the house, Lane said he admitted. Sometimes the door would be unlocked, sometimes he would break in. On one occasion he used a key that was hidden on the front porch.

Lane said the boy first was questioned about a lock box filled with valuable papers, stolen from the Yarbrough home along with six or eight dollars. The boy took Lane to where he had thrown the box in some shrubbery. Then he admitted the other break-ins.

At the scene of the lock box Lane found a letter addressed to Mr. Doom. The Dooms reported they were checking on items stolen, that they had discovered an item or two and a small amount of money missing.

Other Items Taken

What was taken in the other burglaries:

Mottisinger: Wrist watch set with diamonds, $8.69 in money, two old 1838 pennies;

Gidcumb: Pearl ring, diamond ring, lady's wrist watch, box chocolates, new billfold, three silver dollars, $1 bill;

Klein: Five dollar bill, one dollar bill, dollar in pennies, some other change;

Hamilton: Forty-three dollars in money;

Heister: Two change purses, five silver dollars, three dollar bills, 45 cents in pennies, door key;

Crews: Twenty dollar bill, ten dollar bill.

Pickering: The basement window was broken open and the house entered but nothing has been missed as yet. The boy could not remember whether or not he got anything.

Chief Lane said the boy had given the wrist watch and a ring to a girl and were recovered. The other things were found where he had hidden them.

Potential of $24,700,000

Son of Former Harrisburg Resident Owner of Coffee Acreage

A grandson of southern Illinois grandparents of modest means, son of a man from Harrisburg who got his education in law, "the hard way," John Ralph Hutchison Jr. is "waiting for a ship to come in" bearing a $24,700,000 cargo.

This cargo is the return from his investment in 24,700 acres of land he bought in Paraguay to grow coffee. 1959 will be his first commercial season, and although the investment is sound, having a $25 an acre value for the standing timber, the potential value of the land for coffee growing is $1,000 an acre.

When Ralph Hutchison of Caruthersville, Mo., came to Harrisburg in October 1953 to participate in the HTHS golden anniversary celebration and renew friendships with his many friends and former 1914 football team "buddies," he spoke enthusiastically about a new project on which his son "Jack" was just getting started.

Jack, a Harvard business administration school graduate of 1951, had been to Brazil to look over the possibilities for the investment of American capital in the natural resources of that country.

Farmer, cotton gin manager and seeker after business opportunity, Jack was waiting in the office of the agricultural attache of the American Embassy in Rio de Ja-

Granted Leave At SIU to Teach Year in Formosa

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Dr. Howard R. Long, chairman of the Department of Journalism at Southern Illinois University, will be a visiting professor next school year in Taipei, Formosa.

Long has accepted an invitation from the National Political University of the Republic of Nationalist China to teach classes in its Graduate School of Journalism from September, 1957, through June, 1958. The university requested Long's visit through the U. S. State Department.

Granted a leave of absence from SIU, Long will be accompanied by his wife on the trip. Leaving in August, they will make stops in Washington, D. C., San Francisco, Honolulu, and Tokyo before reaching Formosa.

In addition to teaching at the Chinese university, Long will conduct seminars for Formosan newspaper editors and will visit weekly newspaper editors as a representative of the National Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors, which meets annually at Southern Illinois University.

He also will carry credentials from Sol Taishoff, Washington, D. C., national president of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

Before returning to the United States in September, 1958, the Longs plan to visit Hong Kong, Thailand, India, Rome, Paris and London.

Long has headed the SIU Department of Journalism since 1953. He is a former professor at the Missouri School of Journalism, a former manager of the Missouri Press Association, and a past president of the Missouri Journalism Alumni Association.

At Southern, he was largely responsible for the establishment of an annual Elijah P. Lovejoy Award for Courage in Journalism. First of its kind, the award honors weekly newspaper editors who perform courageous editorial service in the face of political and economic pressures.

Before entering the profession of journalism education, Long gained experience in newspaper work by publishing a weekly newspaper at Crane, Mo., and reporting for newspapers in West Virginia and Arkansas.

Ingrid Scoffs at Reports

Rossellini Said Planning a Divorce To Wed Wife of Indian Film Director

PARIS (UP) — Actress Ingrid Bergman, who gave up her home, her family and her career to marry Roberto Rossellini, scoffed today at reports he planned to divorce her and wed the wife of an Indian film director.

"I think the whole thing is made up," she said. "Somebody started this whole thing and now it is blowing up out of all proportions. I think someone is trying to hurt my husband."

Asked if reports were true that Rossellini is living in Bombay with Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, a beautiful 27-year-old model and mother of two small boys, Miss Bergman said, "I don't think there is much truth to it."

She said she first heard the gossip from "Rossellini himself during frequent telephone conversations with her 51-year-old husband who has been in India for some time. She said Roberto told her someone is trying to hurt him."

Miss Bergman, who is starring in the Paris production of the play "Tea and Sympathy," said, "You can see I'm not taking those reports very hard and I'm quite relaxed about it."

Dispatches from India said Mrs. Das Gupta had separated from her husband, Hari Das Gupta, who directed the movie "The Rib" in Bombay where Rossellini is visiting and Das Gupta is in Calcutta.

Daniels, who was arrested Friday night by State Policeman Adolph Sweat, was ordered jailed until the fine is paid.

Bobby Cole of Harrisburg today was charged with driving while intoxicated and illegal transportation of liquor and two companions were charged with drunkenness.

Cole was stopped last night by Sheriff Barrett and Deputy Everett N. Sneed in Harrisburg. They called city police, who took the trio to the city jail.

Action Follows Refusal to Answer Charges

Unprecedented Action Unanimous, Meany Announces

WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamster President Dave Beck was ousted as an AFL-CIO high command today on grounds of "gross misuse" of union funds.

The action came shortly after Beck refused at an unprecedented closed-door AFL-CIO trial to answer charges that he had brought the labor movement into "disrepute."

AFL-CIO President Geo. Meany announced that the 25 members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council who were present today had unanimously voted Beck's ouster—an unprecedented action.

"There is not the faintest question in our minds that he is completely guilty of violating" trade union laws through his use of union money which is "a sacred trust," Meany said.

Beck Defies Board

Meany said the question whether the 62-year-old Teamsters Union chief was guilty of violating federal or state laws involving "theft or embezzlement" was not the concern of the Executive Council of which Beck had been a member since August, 1953.

Beck had appeared before the council this morning for only a half hour. During his appearance, Beck refused to accept his previous suspension as an AFL-CIO vice president and council member or the AFL-CIO charges against him.

Meany said Beck's removal from the Executive Council and the vice presidency could be appealed at the AFL-CIO convention next December.

Meany said Beck would have to get the Teamsters Union to appeal the action.

"For His Own Personal Gain"

The charges against Beck were based on the Senate Rackets Committee investigation disclosures and charges that he had used more than $300,000 of Teamster Union funds for personal matters.

"Whether Beck stole the funds or borrowed them," Meany said, "the record shows he took advantage of his position as a trade union official to use money belonging to dues-paying members for his own personal gain and profit."

Meany said Beck walked out of his trial before the Executive Council this morning after reading a 500-word statement rejecting the charges against him.

But "before he read his statement he listened to me for 20 minutes," Meany said.

Summarizes the Case

Meany said he had summarized the charges for Beck and "I told him what I thought of his actions."

Beck, who is under indictment on income tax evasion charges, told the council that "to require me to answer charges before this body which relate in any way to my defense (against the tax charges) would appear to violate my rights as an American citizen as well as my rights as a longstanding member of the trade union movement."

"Any answers to charges made here," Beck said, could be readily subpoenaed by the Senate Rackets Committee which is investigating charges he has used Teamster funds for his own personal gain.

Meanwhile Beck's position as head of the nation's biggest union has been challenged by Teamsters Vice President John T. O'Brien who has announced he will run against the beleaguered Beck at the union's September convention.

Heartening News

Editorial — BY BRUCE BISSAT

Europe's immediate oil emergency is over. But the long-range risk of fuel starvation remains so long as Egypt's Nasser sits athwart
the Suez Canal. Consequently, blowing reports of major oil discoveries in Africa's Sahara wastes rate as important news.

The most encouraging feature so far is the fact that oil finds have occurred in widely separated areas, suggesting to experts that the prospective fields may be as vast and productive as the rich Texas pools.
Lands involved up to now include Algeria, French West Africa, French Equatorial Africa, and Nigeria. Eventually Morocco, Libya and even Egypt itself could be brought under development.

The French government, fully alert to the possibilities, plans to spend 600 million dollars in the next three or four years. In time
France hopes that wells in French African territory will supply the bulk of its needs.

Conceivably, if the promise born
of these discoveries is realized, much of Europe's oil demand could be met from North African sources, plus Middle Eastern supplies carried in pipelines rather than via Suez.

Evidently, however, geologists don't believe the new developments will ever match the intense concentration of oil wells found in the Middle East. But this is no cause for discouragement, for the potential oil area is far greater.

During the height of the oil crisis
provoked by the Suez blockade, European leaders' thoughts turned to distant new oil prospects in such spots as South America.

Both from the viewpoint of their countries' future safety and economic well-being, they must find the word from the forbidding but far closer African desert a greatly heartening thing. And possibly even the stubborn Nasser may be able to read the handwriting in the sands.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Berserk Mood of Congress
May Endanger National Defense; Ike And Monty Forgot
Their Own Mistakes In World
War II. General Bradley
Says They Prognosed War
Three Months.

WASHINGTON. — Congress is now in a wild free-wheeling mood
such as hasn't been seen by Washington observers since the ebb-days of Herbert Hoover.

It's a mood in which every Congressman wants to get in his whack at the budget so he can wave the meat-axe from the soap box back home. It's a mood in which the budget may be cut up,
not intelligently, but piecemeal
when it gets to the floor of the House of Representatives.

The mood is sweeping Congress like a tornado, and neither the President's TV appeal nor congressional leaders have been able to stop it. Actually the leaders haven't tried. GOP leaders, all of them in the opposite wing from "modern Republicanism," are delighted at the way the budget worm has turned, and Ike's appeal brought as much critical mail as it did favorable. He was bitterly disappointed.

That was one reason he pulled his punches so markedly at his press conference the day after his TV address, announced to Congress that he would not retaliate against Republicans who opposed him, said he would not even work with the modern Republicans who are fighting for him.

This was like pinning a "kick me" sign on his own back. It was also equivalent to telling such courageous GOP friends as Sens.
Clifford Case of New Jersey and Jack Javits of New York that their battles for him would be unrewarded.

No President since the days of Herbert Hoover, who never understood politics, has used these tactics with Congress. It means the abdication of power. In this case it may mean Congress, not the White House, will be running the country for the next three and a half years.

Note—Responsible congressional leaders such as George Mahon of Texas, head of the Military Appropriations Subcommittee, are worried over what the hell-bent-for-economy rush will do to the armed services. Mahon has warned House leaders they must stop the carnage when the defense budget comes up for a vote.

TWO OLD SOLDIERS

When those two old soldiers Field Marshal Montgomery and General Eisenhower, decided they would have fired Generals Lee and Meade for their errors in the heat of Gettysburg, they forgot some errors they themselves made, not in the heat of battle, in World War II.

Their greatest error was to cut off the gasoline of Gens. Omar Bradley and George S. Patton when they were racing for the German border, bringing their offensive to a dead stop in order to let Monty catch up. Most war strategists have pulled their punches in evaluating this error, but some believe it caused many thousands of American casualties and delayed winning the war for three months.

General Bradley, one of the gentler critics, put it this way:
"Three months and many casualties later we were to be forcefully reminded that in war, opportunity once forsaken, is opportunity lost forever. Not until Dec.
2 did the Third Army crack the Saar—and then only after a bitter winter offensive through a heavily fortified line."

Other critics said the war could have been won before Christmas.
Instead it terminated May 6.

This column reported guardedly
Oct. 22, 1944 because of wartime censorship: "Montgomery had been given Caen as his objective.
But days passed and nothing happened. Eisenhower kept hammering at Montgomery, urging an advance. But nothing happened.
Finally air intelligence showed that German resistance behind Allied lines was a mere shell. So Eisenhower gave the order for Bradley to ignore Montgomery and break through Nazi lines to the south."

MONTY WANTED U. S. TROOPS

The fact was that Montgomery demanded an entire U. S. Army, the First Army, to command before he would advance. General Bradley describes this in detail

In his book "A Soldier's Story," He also tells how Montgomery was given his and Patton's gasoline.
Bradley on the whole was kind toward his friend Eisenhower, but occasionally he chafed at the way Ike delayed the war and lost lives
to appease Montgomery.

"Eisenhower was not yet ready to cut us free from Montgomery," wrote the man in command of Eisenhower's combat troops.

Montgomery suggested that the Third Army might bed down on the Meuse and there let Patton hold while he raced on to Berlin, wrote Bradley. "The proposal was reminiscent of Monty's tactics during the Sicilian campaign when he recommended that U. S. forces sit out the war on a defensive note while he went on alone to take Messina."

When Montgomery wanted to take over the entire U. S. First Army to bolster his own British forces, Bradley opposed.

"Why three additional corps?"
he argued with Eisenhower.
"That's two more than he will need. If Monty would only take a chance and attack without an overwhelming preponderance, we might use those two remaining corps to reinforce our lower thrust
on the Rhine."

But Eisenhower sided with Montgomery, and General Patton, according to Bradley, "soon found his advance choked off by shortage of gasoline. I argued strenuously with Eisenhower over Monty's extravagance in tonnage
but was unable to budge him."

"I pleaded with Ike to discard (Monty's) scheme for an air drop on Tournai. 'We'll be there before you can pull it,' I warned. But Eisenhower stuck by his guns."

Sure enough, Bradley got to Tournai with his fast-moving ground troops before Monty got there by air.

"At 5:15 a. m. Sept. 3," wrote Bradley, "Hansen awakened me with a message from Monty who complained that U. S. troops in Tournai were blocking the British road."

Those were some of the errors two old soldiers forgot about when they said they would have fired Lee and Meade for errors at Gettysburg.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.

(Written for NEA Service)

The Master taught love to all His followers. He demonstrated it conclusively to His disciples during His life on earth. Yet when the going became difficult, His friends forsook Him. They must have forgotten how to love.
There are too many fair-weather
friends today who follow us when we are having no difficulties. When someone criticizes us for some small matter, our "friends" forsake us. When we are in need of help, they disappear. When we need their love, they give us indifference.

Let us not be "fair-weather friends." Let us help the needy, lift the halt, lead the blind and serve those who need help. Indifference does not help others. It does not help us. Indifference and good intentions do not pave the way to heaven.

Economy On Rise, President's Advisers Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Virtually everything in the rapidly growing American economy—including prices—is on the rise, the administration reported today.

President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers summarized the growth in its monthly "Economic Indicators" report to the Joint Congressional Economic Committee headed by Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.).

According to the May report the gross national product—output of all goods and services in the nation—was at a record annual rate of $427,100,000,000 in the first three months of this year. Personal income in April rose to an all-time high of $339,300,000,000, corporate profits in the first quarter were at a near record of 23 billion dollars after taxes, April employment was at a monthly record of 66,746,000 and even depressed farm income was up.

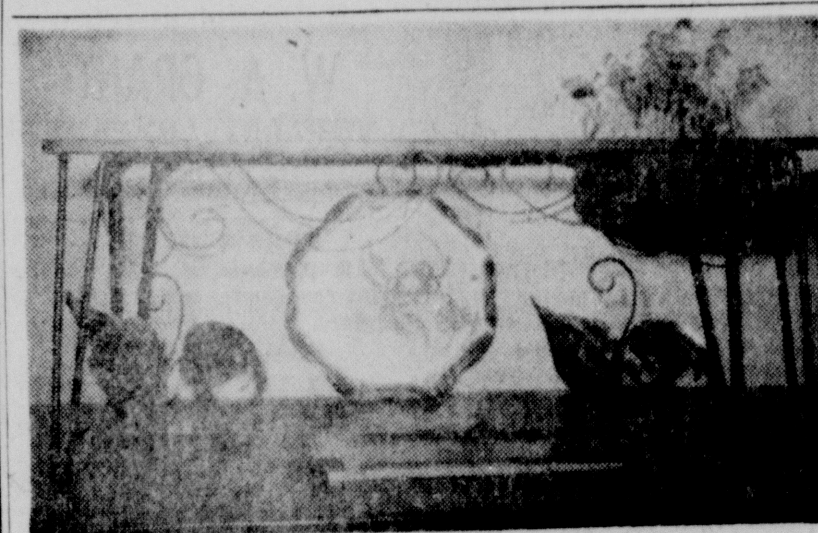

Some of the nation's business leaders, meeting at Hot Springs, Va., said last week these factors point to a "solid resumption of the economic boom" in 1958.

But one vital facet of the economy still is worrying economists and business and government leaders. That is the increasing cost of living and rising interest rates.

W. Randolph Burgess, treasury undersecretary and manager of the government's huge 274-billion-dollar debt, told newsmen price inflation still is a "serious threat" to the economy. So, he conceded, is the interest rate spiral.

Legislature Heading for New Record On Bills for Session

By RAYMOND R. COFFEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD (CP)—The Legislature is headed for a new record in total number of bills introduced at one session.

At a minimum, it costs the taxpayers about $100 for each bill introduced in the General Assembly.

And depending on what is counted into the cost of a bill, the Legislative Council, a research agency, says it is legitimate to figure the cost of a single bill at up to $1,700.

With the exception of the 1953
session, there has been a steady increase in the number of bills introduced.

The present record total of 2,158
was set in 1955—with 879 Senate bills and 1,279 House bills. The 1949 total was only 1,825, which grew to 2,044 in 1951. Then came the 1953 slump to 1,665.

So far this session there have been 1,202 House bills and 764
Senate bills introduced—for a total of 1,966, only 192 short of the old mark.

Count Printing Costs
With six weeks left in the session, a new record seems to be a cinch since last session House Bill 1,202 was not introduced until June 2, and Senate Bill 764 not till May 26.

The Legislative Council arrives at the minimum cost of $100 per bill introduced by counting legislative printing costs only.

But figuring the total cost of operating the legislative branch of the government, the council says
the average cost of a bill can be figured at about $1,700.

To illustrate, the council points out that total legislative spending for the 1955 session came to $3-646,570—including printing, operating costs of the council and the legislative reference bureau which drafts bills for members, the salaries and expenses of legislators and so on.

Dividing these total costs by the total number of bills introduced produces the $1,700 figure for the average cost of a bill.

Duplication of bills by the Senate and House is responsible in part for the great number of measures introduced. A House member and a Senate member both get the same idea on a measure, and introduce identical bills in each chamber. Then one of the bills is stricken or killed depending on the fate of the other.

The Rare Adventure by BERNARD FERGUSON

XXI
"I got your message from Father Paleologue," he said. "You had to telephone urgently to the British Consul-General in Tunis."
"That is so," said Allan.
"But you didn't telephone?"
"I couldn't; the line had been cut."

"But you would have telephoned otherwise?"
"There had never been any such message." So Camille was trying to catch him out or to prove his bona fides, one or the other; and in either case he was bound to make sure that his truthfulness was established, for if he should fail to establish that he would have failed also in his mission, before even he was fairly launched on it.

"Captain Billon deliberately deceived you in order to prevent you from accompanying me to Clustum?"
"Yes."

"Yet he did not prevent you from coming here this morning?"
"Altogether this conversation was too one-sided, thought Allan. Camille was interrogating him much as an intelligence officer interro-gates a prisoner or a deserter.

"There seems to be some misunderstanding as to why I am here," he said. "I did not come here this morning to bandy questions and answers with you, sir, or with anyone else. When I came to Seknou three days ago, from Scotland, I came as the head of the family of Larg, to seek out traces of the family of Al Mer-hametsir, who was a member of my family. I did not know that the events of yesterday, or of last night, were being planned."

"Did the French authorities know that you were coming?" asked Camille.

"I did not at first fully understand the purpose behind the arrangements which you"—he nodded at Jules with a smile—"kindly offered to make for me. I see the whole thing now; but I believe that all the time you thought I knew more than I did: hence the misunderstanding between us. Also, not knowing that a rising—shall I call it?—was being planned, I did not realize how urgent it was that I should meet the people you wanted me to meet. And as I was here in a country administered by the French, I naturally, for reasons of courtesy, wished to be as little of a bother to the French authorities as I could be. The answer to your question"—and this time he nodded at Camille, and gave him a smile, too, to show that there were no ill feelings—"is that the French authorities did not know that I was coming to Seknou. Perhaps before we go any further you would like to translate that to Kassim Bey and Ruh Bey."

The two Berbers bowed as they heard their names not only mentioned but also ennobled; and Jules Fernana translated rapidly while Camille continued to look at Allan.
"It was not until I got back here from Arag el Kebir yesterday at noon, after the incident that Monsieur Camille knows about, that I realized what was happening. I still did not want to embarrass the French, who had shown me every kindness—although I ought to tell you, perhaps, that when Captain Billon came to see me at the hotel on Friday morning—Monsieur Jules will remember—it was to ask me to leave Seknou at once.
I had come a long way in search of the family of Al Merhametsir
—or, may I say, the Seknou branch of my own family? So I refused; and here I still am. I am told that before the fighting started this morning you, or somebody, was good enough to ask that my wife and I should be allowed to leave the Gendarmerie; and that was the first time that I really knew that I might be sure of a welcome from the Seknougais—I mean, as Larg of Larg, and not only the traditional welcome of the Seknougais for strangers."

"Then may I welcome you afresh now," he said. "Did you know that Billon claimed, when he was speaking to us before the shooting began, that you were on the side of the French?"
"I heard voices calling out to each other, but I could not understand what was being said."

"The dog!" said Camille fiercely, but he seemed satisfied with Allan's literally truthful answer.

"Why didn't Madame come with you this morning?"
Here again the best answer
seemed to be a literal statement of fact which begged the question:
"She is tending nine wounded
Seknougais in a corner of the Gendarmarie."
"That is good of Madame, but it is awkward for us," said Camille thoughtfully. "I thought the French might have kept her as a hostage."

"The Largs," said Allan sen-tentially, "do not allow themselves to be used for such purposes."

"The French do not consult the wishes of those whom they hold as hostages," he said bitterly.
"And I still do not understand why the French, who were so anxious to get you out of our hands yesterday, were willing to let you come this morning. Unless they have sent terms with you as messenger?" he gave Allan a keen look.

"I am not a boy," said Allan.
"To run about with messengers. I have come to meet the family of Al Merhametsir. I am more sure than ever that the stock still exists, here in Seknou; and it seems to me that I have come at an especially appropriate time."

At last Camille stood up. He was smiling with more affability than he had shown hitherto.

Final Six Weeks

Legislature Expected to Give Final Approval to Speed Limits

SPRINGFIELD — The 70th General Assembly moved into its last six weeks today and is expected to stamp final approval this week on Gov. William G. Stratton's speed limit bill and a 75-million-dollar Korean veterans bonus plan.

The speed limit bill has passed both houses, but still requires Senate concurrence in house amendments.

Sen. Fred J. Hart (R-Streator) said he would oppose the House amendment which lowered to 40 miles an hour the night time limit for trucks over 8,000 pounds. The bill originally set the limit for such trucks at 50 miles day or night.

The House lowered the night time limit so that there would at all times be a 15-mile difference between the top speed for heavy trucks and the top speed for automobiles, thus making it safer for automobiles to pass the trucks.

Governor Won't "Quibble"
But Stratton told his news conference last week he would not "quibble" over how the House-Senate conference committee worked out an agreement on the amendments, and he predicted the committee would quickly reach agreement.

Stratton said he was principally concerned with enacting the 65-mile daytime and 55-mile night time limit for automobiles provided in the bill.

"If we can reduce highway deaths by about 300 a year, I will feel that is a real accomplishment," he said.

The speed bill also sets a 55-mile day or night limit for trucks under 8,000 pounds and a limit of 60 miles daytime and 50 miles at night for buses.

Bonus Faces Referendum

The Korean veterans bonus plan, which would be financed through a bond issue to be paid off with a one-cent-a-pack increase in the cigarette tax, has already passed the Senate and last week came out of the House Military Affairs Committee with a recommendation that it pass.

The bonus plan would be subject to a 1958 referendum. Stratton also indicated at his news conference he would be inclined to approve the bonus plan, although he vetoed a 190-million-dollar plan in 1955. Stratton said he would not push his proposals for amending the constitution until the last month of the legislative session.

His constitutional amendment program includes proposals to overhaul the state court system, abolish the elective offices of auditor and treasurer and make them appointive, and establish annual legislative sessions.

The Legislature now meets only in odd-numbered years.

About Town And Country

She had worked crossword puzzles before.

What will she do with the money?

She explained that her husband, Beacher Dalton, a machine operator, will go to Chicago to get a job as a machine operator and that the family will move there when school is out.

"We plan to use the money as a down payment on a house," she stated.

Friday night when she was told she would receive the money and was asked what she planned to do with it, she answered:

"I don't want to talk about it until I get it."

Saturday morning she got the check from Joe Ernst, country circulation manager of the Globe-Democrat, in the amount of $3,050, the $50 being a bonus for sending in the winning entry on a postal card.

"I sent in three entries," she said. "I wasn't certain just what would be right; so I sent in the answers three different ways. I wish I knew now what were the winners."

Mr. Ernst and a photographer, Bob Briggs, flew in to Harrisburg for the presentation.

Court Refuses To Reconsider Use Tax Decision

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Supreme Court today refused to reconsider its decision upholding the constitutionality of the state use tax on goods purchased out-of-state for use in Illinois.

Similarly denied were petitions for rehearing on the death sentence of Richard D. Carpenter for the 1955 slaying of Chicago policeman William Murphy, a pinball machine case and a number of others.

The use tax decision apparently ends the long litigation concerning the validity of the tax, which was enacted by the 1955 Legislature to parallel the state sales tax.

The pinball case, "Illinois vs. One Mechanical Device," reached the high court again on a petition for rehearing. The Supreme Court earlier had ruled that pinball machines which pay off in "free games," and not in money, were not gambling devices.

The court refused to reconsider that decision.

Irvin Execution Set for July 9

PRINCETON, Ind. (AP) — A new execution date of July 9 was set today for Leslie Irvin, the "mad dog killer" charged with killing persons in Indiana and Kentucky in a four-month robbery spree.

Methodist Men Visit Menard Penitentiary

Twenty-nine members of the Men's Organization of the First Methodist church of Harrisburg visited the Illinois State Penitentiary at Menard Sunday afternoon as guests of Warden Ross V. Randolph. The group left Harrisburg at 1:00 p. m. in a McCormack bus and arrived at Menard at 3 p. m. They returned to Harrisburg about 9 p. m. Arrangements for the trip were made by a committee composed of Donald O'Neal, Robert Gaskins, and Don Williams.

Warden Randolph is a prominent Methodist layman and Mason and delivered an address to Southern Illinois Methodist laymen at the Harrisburg church last December. He personally conducted the local men through his institution, and the men were his guests at dinner following the tour. E. Bishop Hill, president of the men's group, reported that the men were greatly impressed with the cleanliness and orderliness of the institution and showed considerable interest in learning of the many advances made in recent years at this modern prison.

his choice of tracts and made his selection after he had flown over the land and explored it with a jeep borrowed from a Catholic mission. It is 10,000 hectares in size.

The land is located in Paraguay near Pedro Juan Caballero, less than eight miles from the Brazilian border.

Johnson and his associates formed Companhia Americana de Fomento Economico, shortened to CAFE, to develop the rest of the land. The corporation has $3,000,000 invested in 4,000,000 coffee trees. Sweet bought 3000 acres adjoining Jack's land and the two have a joint administrator, who directs the foremen on each place. Jack is expecting both Johnson and Sweet to visit him in Caruthersville, soon.

The trees are planted in ten foot squares and a 2.2 pound coffee yield per tree is considered good. The land was cleared with axes and two-man saws at a wage rate of 50 cents a day. The owner pays about $200 a year in land taxes on the total holdings. Foreign currency up to 50% gross can be taken out of Paraguay and Jack's term for investment potentials in South America is "absolutely unbelievable."

In Missouri, Jack farms 1600 acres of the area's staples, cotton, corn, alfalfa and soybeans. He also manages the Ward-Coppage Mercantile Co., ginners, which claims to be the oldest corporation in Pemiscot county. He has made four trips to his holdings in Paraguay.

John Ralph Hutchison Jr. was married to the former Elizabeth Carey of Caruthersville in 1948 and is the father of four children, three girls and one boy, ranging in age from one to seven years. He is quiet, conservative in his dress, and is currently wearing a crew cut. His eyes are steady, his tone soft and his manner enthusiastic when he speaks of his family and business interests. He is a director of the Missouri Cotton Producers Association and a member of Farm Bureau, attending cotton meetings of both.

John Ralph Hutchison, father of Jack, is the Republican member of the three-man State Tax Commission of Missouri, and with Mrs. Hutchison, spends most of his time in Jefferson City, Mo. He has been an annual visitor in Harrisburg at the time of the Stonefort Old Soldiers reunion in August of each year, until last year when his political duties and the death of his mother in June caused him to remain in Jefferson City. He had never failed to bring her to the reunion, during her lifetime.

A relative still living in this area is Mrs. O. E. Wiley, of 212 West Raymond street, Harrisburg, sister of the late Mrs. Olive Hutchison, with whom Mrs. Hutchison was accustomed to visit when she returned to Harrisburg.

"Ralph" Hutchison lived in Harrisburg until he was graduated from HTHS, then the family moved to Missouri. He started his law practice near his uncle, J. E. Duncan of Haiti, Missouri, who was state's attorney at the time of Ralph's entry into law practice. He has many friends in Harrisburg, among them, Kenneth C. Capel, with whom he always visits and in whose home he and his family have been guests. Jack is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hutchison.

Estimate $25 Million Damage In Oklahoma

By United Press

Rampaging rivers that turned parts of Oklahoma into a vast sea during the weekend receded today, and authorities counted damages in the state's "greatest disaster" at about 25 million dollars.

The Arkansas River, in its worst flood in history, spared Tulsa Sunday when it began subsiding after cresting about a foot above the 19-foot flood stage.

Residents who had moved to higher ground in anticipation of a crest seven feet above flood stage, returned to their homes with the aid of National Guard and commercial trucks.

The river overflowed downstream at Bixby, forcing some 1,000 residents to flee, but many of them were able to move back by nightfall.

State Civil Defense Director Tom Brett termed the floods Oklahoma's "greatest disaster." He estimated damage to farms and other private property at $17,835,000. Highways, bridges and roads suffered an estimated seven million dollars in damage.

Heavy rains in the Nebraska Panhandle during the night blocked numerous highways with up to one foot of water. Hardest hit were the Scottsbluff, Minatare, Bayard and Alliance areas where water swirled through the streets and flooded basements.

A tornado struck a farm north of Minatare Sunday night, damaging the house and garage, but causing no injuries.

A United Press count showed at least 33 persons have been killed in weather-caused accidents since Wednesday when a tornado slammed into Silvertown, Tex. There were 22 dead in Texas, 9 in Oklahoma and 2 in Kansas.

In California, a new storm headed for northern sections of the state in the wake of weekend rains that gave the state its wettest May in 32 years.

Seaplane Crashes Into House; Pilot is Killed

PEEKSKILL, N. Y. (AP) — Five persons escaped injury—and possible death — by minutes Sunday night when a seaplane crashed into a house, crumbling a ceiling in the living room where they had just been watching television.

The pilot, Kenneth Ballou, 39, of Verplanck, N. Y., died in a hospital four hours later.

Only a few minutes before the rented single-engine craft crashed into the house, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Walder and three visitors had left the living room to go into the kitchen for dinner.

The plane, believed to have developed engine trouble, smashed against an upstairs bedroom window, collapsing the ceiling and caving in a section of the roof and the front of the house. It then dropped to the lawn, with Ballou still in the cockpit.

The plane, in which Ballou had taken off from a nearby seaplane base, did not explode or burn.

Chicago Heights Bloom Impressive In Winning State Track Meet

CHAMPAIGN — Bloom of Chicago Heights was the undisputed king of high school track today after showing his heels to the rest of the state's "best" for one of the most impressive victories in the 63-year history of the Illinois interscholastic track and field meet.

Bloom, the defending champion, ran away from the rest of the field in the weekend outing, amassing 39 1-5 points. Its closest rival was New Trier of Winnetka, which finished with 19 8-15 points. Sparking Bloom in the defense of its 1956 title was Fred Macklin, who captured two events and anchored the winning Bloom mile relay team. In all, Bloom athletes won six of the possible 14 titles.

Macklin won the broad jump title Friday, and then took the quarter-mile Saturday, coming within a tenth of a second of equaling the record of :48.8 set in 1932 by Marshall Miller of Maine and matched last year by John Lattimore of Chicago Phillips.

Glen Ellyn Third
The Bloom mile relay quartet set a record of 3:22.1, bettering its own 1956 mark by seven-tenths of a second.

Placing third in team standings was Glenbard Glen Ellyn with 14 points. Chicago Phillips and Elmhurst York tied for fourth with 10 points each.

The only other double winner of the meet was Mike Pyle of New Trier, who also set the meet's only other record in the shot put in Friday's preliminaries. Pyle's second win was in the discus.

Bloom's other wins were turned in by John Llorca in the 880 with a time of 1:59.4; Leroy Jackson, who successfully defended his 100-yard dash title in :10.0, and the 880-yard relay team with a surprise 1:30.8 win.

Although only two new records were set, several marks were threatened. Bob Winford of Dunbar came within a tenth of a second of surpassing the 180-yard low hurdle record set by Bill Martin of Phillips in 1954 with a time of :19.3.

One Champion Dethroned
Only one defending champion failed to repeat. Larry Mackey of Urbana placed fifth in the pole vault. Tying for first at 12 feet 2 inches were Dave Rudolph of Highland Park, Larry Oertley of Peoria Limestone, Bill Keel of Hinsdale, and Tom Fann of Hurst-Bush.

The mile run went to Frank Ballinger of Mooseheart who edged Ballinger of Mooseheart who edged Brian White of Rockford East to cut the tape in 4:27.2.

Other winners included Lane Patterson of Glenbard, who won the 220 in :21.9, and Jim Davis, a Rockford West junior, who won the 120-yard high hurdles in :14.7.

Other schools and their finish in order were: Arlington Heights and Rockford West, 9 points each; Chicago Dunbar and Rockford East, 8 each; Girard, 6; Danville and Mooseheart, 5 each; East Peoria, Mendota, Oregon and Sparta, 4 each; Highland Park, Peoria Limestone, Hinsdale and Hurst-Bush, 3 1-2 each; Taylorville, Edwardsville, Lawrenceville, Champaign and Chicago Hyde Park, 3 each; Urbana, 2 1-3; Springfield, 2 1-5; Collinsville, Chicago Englewood, Galesburg, Evanston and Paxton, 1 1-5 each; Aurora Marmion, Aurora East, Peoria Woodruff, Joliet and Oak Park, 1 each, and Herrin 1-3.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—Ingemar Johansson of Sweden retained his European heavyweight championship with a fifth-round knockout over England's Henry Cooper.

BARCELONA—Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., defeated Australia's Mervyn Rose to capture the International Count of Godo tennis tournament.

Reds, White Sox Open Up Two Game Leads in Majors; Dodgers Whip Cards, 10-3

By United Press

The Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox don't have much in common but it's an academic point today because they're showing only their heels to their chief pennant rivals.

Both opened two-game leads in the major league races Sunday, the Reds outslugging the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-7 and 5-4, and the White Sox scoring a 6-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Tom Acker gained credit for both Cincinnati wins although he hurled a total of 2 1-3 innings in relief. He came in to retire one batter in the ninth inning of the opener and was returned the winner when George Crowe's fourth hit drove in Johnny Temple in the last two innings and picked up the victory when Wally Post snapped a 4-4 tie with his eighth-inning homer.

Fischer Faces Chisox
Bill Fischer won his second game for the White Sox although Paul LaPalme came on to hurl the last two innings. Larry Doby knocked in two runs with a double and a homer.

The New York Giants knocked the Milwaukee Braves two full games off the Reds' pace with a 6-3 victory and the Brooklyn Dodgers scored seven runs in the ninth to whip the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-3, in the other National League games. Philadelphia and Chicago were rained out of a double-header.

The Yankees moved into a second-place tie with the Indians when New York ended Cleveland's five-game winning streak, 6-3, and the Detroit Tigers took over fourth place in the American League with a 6-1 triumph over

"Permanent" type anti-freeze is known as "permanent" because it protects all winter without evaporating. But experts agree you should drain all anti-freeze and flush your car's cooling system in the Spring... then add a can of rust preventive to protect it during the summer.

That's what we'll do for you—using top quality products and our years of experience to assure you the job's done right.

Come in and see us now for our cooling system service.

DODGE and PLYMOUTH

After the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run, in which all American makes of 1957 model Eight Cylinder and Automatic Transmission cars were entered, it is generally agreed by automobile critics that Dodge and Plymouth are the best cars to buy in 1957.

You owe it to yourself to come in and get the story on these cars before you buy. Get the thrill of Push-Button Driving and Torsion-Aire Ride! Come in and see these cars. We use no High-Pressure Sales Methods and if you buy on time we will figure the finance charge in your presence and will explain in detail before you sign. And Remember... we Service what we sell.

FORD'S NEWEST?—This candid photo, made at a Detroit area test track, shows a car reported to be the new 1958 Edsel to be manufactured by Ford Motor Co. The Edsel, scheduled for introduction in September 1957, will sell in the medium price field. It has been learned, unofficially, that the Edsel will come equipped with double headlights, a split front bumper and wrap-around grille. The center of the grille is oval shaped.

MRS. PAUL HAYS, 1026 South Main street, Harrisburg, president of the W.M.U. of the Illinois Baptist state association which is host to the annual association of the Southern Baptist convention, being held in the Medinah Temple in Chicago, next week.

Illinois Baptist WMU, Mrs. Paul Hays President, Will Host Convention Group

Meeting in conjunction with the annual session of the Southern Baptist Convention in Chicago next week, will be the Woman's Missionary Union. Its 5,000 delegates will represent one of the largest women's missionary groups in the world.

Mrs. R. L. Mathis is president on the convention level and office headquarters are in Birmingham, Ala. However, the organization extends into Cuba, Mexico and Alaska as well as a number of foreign countries.

Acting as hostess to this gathering will be the W. M. U. of the Illinois Baptist State Association whose president is Mrs. Paul Hays of Harrisburg. Many Illinois women are assisting her in arranging a welcome for the larger organization. Among her chief helpers will be Mrs. D. H. Hiller, also of Harrisburg, serving as chairman of registration. This is in itself a gigantic undertaking. Together they will see that things "click."

Numerous Speakers

Mrs. Hays will appear before the assembly on Monday morning to publicly recognize her committee. This will follow the opening session on Sunday evening.

May 26, at which time there will be a memorial service and Dr. C. Oscar Johnson of St. Louis, will address the group.

There will be numerous speakers from the United States and abroad during this W. M. U. convention which will continue through Tuesday afternoon. It will be assembled in the great Medinah Temple, as will the Southern Baptist Convention proper. The latter will continue through Friday, May 31.

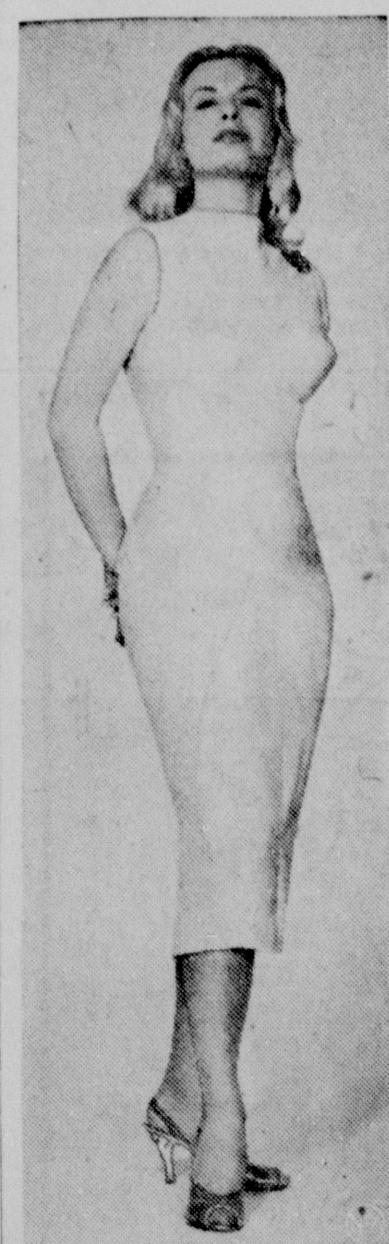

Mrs. Hays, the president of the hostess group, is heading the State organization for the second year. She is one of Harrisburg's busy mothers. She, and her husband, a Harrisburg business man, met in college and graduated in the same class at William Jewell College in Missouri.

Members of First Baptist Church

Their oldest son, Bill, is now with a Kansas City advertising firm. Bob, next oldest, has had a turn at the military and was released not long ago. Mike is enrolled as a student at Southern Illinois University, and Pete, the youngest son is a freshman in the Harrisburg Township high school. Martha, the one and only daughter—joy note of the Hays household attends grade school at the age of eight.

Mrs. Hays for many years has taught a young women's class in Sunday school. She and her husband are both members of Harrisburg First Baptist church. He is currently serving as chairman of the church Building and Grounds committee. She has in turn, served about every office in W. M. U. from president down, in the local organization. Past years have found her active in the interests of P. T. A., Woman's Club and Home Bureau. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hays are identified with the constructive phases of our community life.

Their home is at 1026 South Main street.

POURED IN—Well, not exactly. The dress was "poured over" screen actress Jean Wallace for her role in "The Devil's Hairpin." The dress was slipped onto a mold of Jean's body, sprayed with a "steam gun" and later slipped onto Jean. Even Jean said, "Wow!"
